EPPS'S COCOA.
BREAKFAST.
"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—See article in the Civil Service Gazette.

"A charming novel, the plot being intelligent and cleverly worked out—an excellent story."—Court Journal.

FAR FROM the MADDING CROWD. By THOMAS HARDY, Author of "A Pair of Blue Eyes," "Under the Greenwood Tree." 2 vols., with 12 Illustrations, 21s.

"Mr. Hardy is, perhaps, the most vigorous of all the novelists who have appeared during the last few years. His powers of description, his skill in devising 'situations,' his quaint humour, secure him a high place among novelists of any age."—Athenæum.

"This last work of Mr. Hardy at once lifts his name above the crowd, and gives him a position among the eminent few.....The drama in Mr. Hardy's novels is in no sense a warfare of opinion or ideas; it is a warfare of persons moved by the primeval motives of love and jealousy. It is in following the dark ways of tragic passion that Mr. Hardy's power makes itself unquestionably felt. 'Far from the Madding Crowd' is no ordinary novel."—Examiner.

WARD v. BEETON ("BEETON'S CHRISTMAS ANNUAL").

This was a motion on behalf of the plaintiffs, Messrs. Ward & Lock, the publishers, for an injunction to restrain the defendant, Mr. S. O. Beeton, from publishing or circulating any advertisements or letters representing that he was interested or concerned in any Annual book or publication other than "Beeton's Christmas Annual," published by the plaintiffs, or that the defendant's connexion with the plaintiffs' firm was terminated, or that the use of defendant's name by the plaintiffs for the purposes of their "Beeton's Christmas Annual" was improper or unauthorised. According to the statements contained in the bill, the defendant was in business on his own account as a publisher down to the year 1866, and among the publications of which he was the proprietor was "Beeton's Christmas Annual," now in its fifteenth year. In 1866 the plaintiffs purchased the copyrights and business property of the defendant, and in September of that year an agreement was entered into between the plaintiffs and the defendant by which it was provided, among other things, that the defendant was to devote himself to the development of the plaintiffs' business, and not to be interested in any other business without their consent; that the plaintiffs were to have the use of the defendant's name for the purposes of their present and future publications, and that the defendant should not permit the use of his name for any other publication without their consent; and the defendant was to be remunerated by a salary which was at first to consist of a fixed annual sum, and was subsequently to be equivalent to a fourth share of the profits of the plaintiffs' business. Under this agreement, "Beeton's Christmas Annual" was published by the plaintiffs, with the assistance of the defendant, down to and including Christmas last. In the year 1872 the Annual consisted of a production called "The Coming K——." It was published, however, as the plaintiffs alleged, without their having seen the MSS., and, as it contained passages which they considered were open to grave objections, they refused to print or publish a second edition of it. In 1873 the Annual consisted of a publication called "The Siliad," which was written by the same authors as "The Coming K——." In July last the plaintiffs applied to the defendant to prepare the volume of the Annual for Christmas next, but desired that its character and contents might differ from those of "The Siliad," with which they were dissatisfied; the defendant, however, "neglected to prepare or assist in preparing the same." In October last the plaintiffs heard that the defendant was engaged in preparing another Annual in opposition to theirs. A correspondence ensued, in which the plaintiffs gave the defendant notice that they would maintain their rights, and required him to make proper arrangements for the production of the Annual, while the defendant denied that he was in fault, and alleged that the plaintiffs had rejected the production he had proposed, which was to be by the authors of "The Coming K——," and that those gentlemen had then made their own arrangements for publishing their work. The plaintiffs then made arrangements with one of the authors of "The Siliad" for the Annual of 1874, and announced it by advertisements in the newspapers, under the title of "Beeton's Christmas Annual for 1874, fifteenth season." The title of the coming Annual is "The Fijiad." The defendant then caused advertisements to be inserted in the Standard, Athenæum, and other newspapers, addressed to booksellers, advertisers, and the public, stating that he had no hand in the Annual announced by the plaintiffs; that he devised long ago his usual Annual in collaboration with the authors of "The Coming K——" and "The Siliad;" that the title of the Annual now in the press was "Jon Duan;" that it was written by the authors of "The Coming K——" and "The Siliad," and would not be published by the plaintiffs, but by another publisher. Under these circumstances, the present bill was filed yesterday, and, in pursuance of leave then obtained, the motion for injunction was made this morning. The defendant did not appear; and upon an affidavit that service of the notice of motion had been effected upon him before five o'clock yesterday afternoon at his country residence, an order was made by the Court for an injunction in terms of the motion, extending until the hearing of the cause.

TRAVELS IN SOUTH AMERICA,

FROM THE PACIFIC TO THE ATLANTIC OCEAN.

By PAUL MARCOY.

Illustrated by 525 splendid Engravings on Wood (of which 54 are Full-Page Size), and Ten Maps from Drawings by the Author.

From the TIMES.—"Such a book is a treat which the English reader does not often get.....If the British public will not believe that there is more solid instruction in such a work as this than in a geographical manual, and more amusement than in a novel, we can only say, let him alone."

The UNIVERSE; or, the Infinitely Great and the Infinitely Little. By F. A. POUCHET, M.D. Illustrated by 343 Engravings on Wood, of which 80 are full pages, and 4 finely-coloured Plates. Large 8vo, handsomely bound in cloth, gilt top, 31*s.* 6*d.*

"We can honestly commend this work, which is admirably, as it is copiously, illustrated."—Times.
